8 DIE, 13 HURT IN HOTEL FIRE

Indianapolis, Ind., November 13.—(AP)—An early morning fire that trapped occupants of third floor rooms in the Graystone Apartment hotel, here resulted in the loss of eight lives today. Thirteen persons suffered injuries and one of them, a city fireman, may die.

The fire, originating from an unknown cause in an elevator shaft, apparently ate its way slowly to the third floor and suddenly spread out, cutting off all means of escape.

The dead included six women, a young girl and a young boy.

The victims were:
Miss Alice Farr,
Miss Stella Kimberling,
Mrs. Ernest Campbell,
Miss Elizabeth Russell, 41,
Miss Elizabeth Russell, 17,
Roy Zimmerman, 14,
Ruth Rawlins, 13,
Miss Clara Allen, 54.

William Weisshar was the fireman who suffered injuries that may prove fatal.

The Graystone hotel, a three-story brick structure is located on Illinois street, near New York street, close to the downtown district. It housed a number of inexpensive apartments.

No Estimate of Damage.
The Graystone hotel is owned by the Investors Realty Company of Indianapolis. O. J. Smith, president of a realty firm that handles the rental of the hotel apartments, declared that the building was of substantial construction, and expressed the opinion that the victims would have escaped had they remained in their rooms until firemen had conquered the blaze in the hallway. Smith said he could give no estimate of the damage caused by the blaze.

Claude M. Worley, chief of police, expressed the opinion that inadequate safety equipment was a contributing cause to the fatalities. He declared there was only one fire escape at the rear of the building.

Contradicting a statement by rental agents that the elevator shaft in which the fire started was kept free from rubbish, Fire Chief Jesse Hutsell said he was informed that there had been an accumulation of litter in the shaft, and that the shaft was not fireproof.

Coroner Plans Probe.

Dr. Charles H. Koeber, Marion county coroner, said he planned a thorough investigation. He said he had received complaints that insufficient exits had been provided, and that the hotel was overcrowded.

Although panels of doors on the second and third floors were burned through, said Chief Hutsell, the fire did not do much damage to the interior of the rooms. Belief that lives might have been saved if the tenants had remained in their rooms was based on his finding of a canary alive in a room on the second floor near the elevator shaft after the fire, he said.

REALLY MAN SLAIN
BY FORMER NURSE

New York, November 13.—(AP)—A 22-year-old real estate agent was shot seven times and killed today, in the Bronx apartment of a 35-year-old woman, a former war nurse, who was taken to a hospital unconscious and critically wounded by a bullet under her heart.

Police found Andrew Devolo, treasurer of a realty concern, dead in the apartment of Mrs. Maryse Maye, a few minutes after the shooting. He stumbled out of her room, crying, "Andy, Andy, don't shoot me." In one of Devolo's hands was an eight-shot .25 calibre automatic pistol, and the other grasped several strands of the woman's hair.

Mrs. Maye regained consciousness at the hospital only at brief intervals, murmuring, "Andy, Andy, no matter what happens I love you." Police were unable to interrogate her, but intimated that if she lived she would be charged with killing Devolo.

Detectives investigating the case declared that a friend of Mrs. Maye told them that the injured woman recently had said that she intended to end her life and had bought a pistol for that purpose. Neighbors of Mrs. Maye testified that they heard no shots fired but were aroused by the woman's scream as she collapsed outside her door.

All of the seven wounds in Devolo's body were inflicted at close range, a fact which might have been fatal, police said.

Mrs. Maye was found in police records to have been beaten and robbed a year ago of $100 and clothing valued at $3,000 by two men now serving prison sentences. Her husband, a world war veteran, is said to be in France.

Held for Pilfering.

Tommy Quinn, 19, was arrested Sunday night charged with having pilfered $7 from the pocketbook of Miss Ruth Weatherly, while calling on another girl at Mrs. Weatherly's home, 308 Central avenue. Quinn was held on "disorderly conduct" charges brought against him by Officers Cartright and Brackett.

SIX INJURED.

Six persons were injured in a crash between a light sedan and an auto truck at Boulevard and Auburn avenues, Frank Grizzard, well-known Atlanta lawyer, and Mrs. Grizzard, Misses Dean and Teresa Doyal, of Melvyn avenue, and Louis Trotter, of 1020 McLane avenue, occupants of the sedan, were taken to Georgia Baptist hospital in a private ambulance.

Car Destroyed.

The car, a light sedan, was completely destroyed and the photographer made a picture of the wreck before it was removed from the track to allow the train to proceed. Photographs were also made of the conductor of the train, W. D. McLean, and Robinson, driver of the car, as the conductor made his report of the accident.

The three injured men were taken to Grady hospital and treated for cuts and severe bruises. Foster, who had a severe wound in his neck, was removed to another hospital, and the other two men were discharged.

And in such manner came to the Constitution photographer what can truthfully be called a "great break."

Nine other persons were injured in four automobile accidents Sunday afternoon on the crowded highways of the city.

BOARD OF HEALTH WARNS GEORGIANS OF RABBIT FEVER

Rabbit hunters were warned by the Georgia state board of health in a recent radio talk to beware of rabbit fever when cleaning wild rabbits. For several years, typhoid fever, malarial fever, yellow fever, spring fever and a number of other fevers have been known to be contagious from rabbits. Recently several cases of rabbit fever have been reported in Georgia. The talk was given by T. F. Sellars, director of the state board of health, laboratory, for a Sears-Robuck Agricultural foundation program.

"Out west rabbit fever is very common among wild jack rabbits and many cases occur in human beings as well," said Mr. Sellars. "Out there they have lots of ticks and lice and biting flies and also lots of rabbits. These blood loving insects will bite both rabbits and human beings. In this way they transfer the disease from animal man. Fortunately, the south we do not have as many rabbits and blood-sucking insects as they have out west. Therefore rabbit fever is not so common."

"Humans sometimes get the disease by cleaning infested rabbits. If any of you are going rabbit hunting don't touch a rabbit about catching rabbit fever. But if you kill any and have to clean them be a little careful about getting blood into fresh cuts and raw places on your hands. If you do, wash your hands at once and paint all breaks in the skin with iodine. And also eat rabbit as often as you like without any fear of catching rabbit fever, that is, provided you cook the meat."

This talk was one of a series of talks given from the Sears-Robuck Agricultural foundation program by the Georgia state board of health each Monday at 2:30.

TRACK LOWERING BEGINS THIS WEEK

Excavation along tracks to be lowered for Atlanta's new twin viaducts is scheduled to commence this week when city and county officials affix signposts to the construction contract, thereby removing the last technicality hindering the project.

Trail executives will arrive in Atlanta today with the avowed intent of signing the working agreement, while final negotiations with Brooks-Calloway, contractors, will be concluded early this week, it was announced Sunday.

Although Mayor I. N. Bagdikian has not yet approved an agreement passed by the aldermanic board by which the $400,000 contribution of the Georgia Power company would become available, he pointed out that he has five days in which to arrive at a decision. Should he fail to do so in this period, the proposal will be effective without his endorsement.

A quirk of parliamentary law Thursday automatically passed the measure when the aldermanic board failed to take action.

ALBERT B. FALL IN CITY SUNDAY

Former Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall spent a restful night and day en route from Washington to his El Paso, Texas, home, Mrs. Fall said on arrival of their train here late Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Fall was resting in the seclusion of his drawing room and newspapermen were not permitted to talk to him.

Mr. Fall, co-defendant with Harry Sinclair, oil man, in the Teapot Dome conspiracy trial which ended abruptly in Washington a few days ago following charges of "jury tampering," was accompanied on the trip by his wife and two daughters, Mrs. C. C. Chase, of El Paso, and Mrs. B. F. Elliott, of Three Rivers, N. M., and a granddaughter, young Miss Carrie Elliott.

"Mr. Fall, although troubled with a severe bronchial attack which nearly turned into pneumonia, has had quite a comfortable day and night," Mrs. Fall said.

"We are going to spend a while at our home in El Paso, where medical aid can be had easily," she said. "The home, by the way, was purchased 22 years ago."

Mr. Fall and his party left Washington last night. The former secretary of interior has been ill nine days from congestion of the lungs.

GERMAN CIGAR FACTORIES CLOSE IN BIG LOCKOUT

Berlin, November 13.—More than 130,000 German cigar workers were locked out Saturday and as a result every cigar factory in Germany will be closed Monday. The ministry of labor's last attempt to conciliate the parties failed, the masters refusing to meet the men's demands for a 15 per cent raise in wages.

Berlin iron founders Saturday by a 90 per cent majority decided to strike the ironing of the Alexander H. Stephens sculpture, Monday, grant a raise in wages.

MEXICO ASSAILED IN NICARAGUA ROW

President Calles directing that the treasury general of Mexico pay Dr. Pedro Jose Zepeda 100,000 pesos ($20,000) "for the purchase of arms and ammunition for the liberal army in Nicaragua."

Another letter, purporting to have been signed by President Calles, ordered that 50,000 pesos ($10,000) be paid to Dr. Zepeda "for expenses in the performance of a mission of a secret character confided to him by the executive."

A third letter over the purported signature of President Calles ordered the payment of 10,000 pesos ($2,000) to Dr. Carlos Leon "for expenses in the performance of a mission undertaken for the presidential general staff" and ordered the item to be "charged to secret expenditures of the presidency of the republic."

Six facsimile letters will be published, three, signed by other officials than President Calles, relate to the carrying out of the president's orders as to the transfer of funds.

The following translation of one letter is made in the article:

"Presidency of the Republic.

"General Staff.

"Subject: Issuance of pay order to Dr. Pedro Jose Zepeda.

(Seal.)

"You will please order the treasury-general of the nation to issue a pay warrant in favor of Dr. Pedro Jose Zepeda for the sum of 100,000 pesos (one hundred thousand pesos, national gold) for the purchase of arms and ammunition, for the liberal army of Nicaragua."

"Charge this item provisionally to secret expenditures of the presidential general staff, while it is being considered how the sum should be applied."

"Sufraga efectivo no-relección."

"Palacio Nacional, Mexico, D. F., June 2, 1926."

"The President of the Republic,

"P. Elias Calles.

"To the Citizen Secretary of the Treasury and Public Credit."

The article says that the documentary evidence was obtained from the secret files of the Mexican government by men in the employ of the Mexican government who were opposed to the bolshevist tendency of that government.

The documents so far published are the first of a series.

The letters, the article says, will be made available to the state department and congress.

In a message to congress on January 10, 1927, President Coolidge accused Mexico of aiding the revolutionists in Nicaragua. Three days later, Secretary of State Kellogg issued a statement about Mexico fomenting revolutions in Nicaragua and made references to bolshevism.

The article accompanying the facsimiles of documents says that at that time Secretary Kellogg had not the complete documentary evidence to establish the facts.

ROCKEFELLER GIVES PALESTINE MUSEUM

Jerusalem, Palestine, November 13.—(P.)—It is understood that the Palestine government is accepting a gift of $2,000,000 from John D. Rockefeller, Jr., for the erection of a museum in Jerusalem. The gift is conditioned on the completion of the building within three years, and the government already is negotiating for a suitable site.

TORPEDO BOAT CLAIMS 94-MILE-HOUR RECORD

Berlin, November 13.—(United News.)—After years of experimenting, Herman Boeck, a Hamburg shipping magnate, claims to have invented a torpedo-like vessel with a speed of 94 miles an hour, capable of traveling from Cherbourg to Boston in 40 hours.

The boat is only 98 feet long and 13 feet wide, but it can accommodate a crew of four, ten passengers and some mail, according to the inventor.

It will be given a trial next spring on a run from the German coast to Cape Finisterre, Spain.

The newspaper Acht-Uhr-Blatt says the ship has two motors attached to spiral shafts along both sides of the boat which, when revolving, will propel it.

The newspaper quotes Boeck as saying that the vessel's construction assures safety even in the stormiest sea. The ship is completely covered which, together with its torpedo shape, is claimed by Boeck to minimize resistance to the air and sea.

ITALIANS HOLD NEWLY-WED DUKE MODEL HUSBAND

Naples, Italy, November 13.—(P.)—The newly-wed Duke of Apulia is a model young husband—at least, from a military standpoint. After only a week of their honeymoon the bride, Princess Anne of France, will set forth for Tripoli in order that the duke, who is a lieutenant colonel of colonial artillery, may resign his outfit and resume his round of duty.

PITTSBURGH HOLDS LABOR CONVENTION TO ASSIST MINERS

Pittsburgh, November 13.—(P.)—The field marshals of the organized labor movement were mobilizing in Pittsburgh tonight for a conference, opening tomorrow, to discuss means of "backing up" $5,000 striking union miners in the western and central Pennsylvania coal districts in their effort to maintain the Jacksonville wage scale.

President Green, of the American Federation of Labor, will preside at the conference, which will be attended by national and international presidents of various unions, the executive council of the labor federation and other representatives of the 3,000 or more wage earners affiliated with the national labor body.

STAMMERING

In a recent advertisement in this paper some words were said bearing on the problem of stammering, the strangest and yet one of the most distressing of human afflictions. As light and larger understanding of the problem, read what is said below. It is a phase of the problem which every stammerer knows, but which few normal persons know.

If the stammerer can talk with ease when alone, and most of them have no difficulty at all when alone, but stammers in the presence of others, which all of them do; must it not be that in the presence of others he does something wrong, something which interferes with Nature in the speech process? If then we know what it is that interferes, and the stammerer be taught how to avoid that, must it not be that he is getting rid of the thing that makes him stammer? That not only is good reasoning, it is logical and convincing reasoning. It is the philosophy of our method of curing the trouble. Let us tell you about it. We will give you the names and addresses of stammerers themselves, or their parents, a score of names, and thus you may learn from stammerers, the best possible evidence, about our work.

Coming to us, if you are not perfectly satisfied with results, you may have your money back if you want it.

The long, long trail

(85 seconds reading time)

They arranged for us to ship the bench, and turned toward the door. Just then a marble-topped Italian coffee table came into view. "Oh, wait a minute!" she exclaimed. "We've been all around—to New York and everywhere, and this is the first place I've been tempted to get anything. But this is hand-carved, and only $49.00—I must have it too."

Again the sale was closed. As they moved on once more she stopped, by a small smoking stand. "Oh, your prices are so low I just can't resist buying," she said. "We'll just have to get this."

On all that long, long trail they had not seen such values as they found in this store. And many others have had the same experience. From Miami and Pittsburgh, from New York City and Elgin, Illinois—and dozens of other towns in eighteen states—some of our best customers have come.

It is because the regular, everyday level of prices here is very, very low. Philibosian's sells for cash for just that purpose: to make low prices possible.

It's a short, easy trail you have to follow to get these values. Just visit the store—take time to discover that the furnishings you want are right here, at prices you will like to find.

OVER 2000 miles they had traveled —on one of those delightful rambling vacations that give a glimpse of a dozen cities and as many states. (During the trip this couple had been visiting furniture stores as they chanced to pass them, for both loved beautiful furnishings.)

They were going back home to Miami; dropped into Philibosian's as they came by. Casually they wandered about, threading in and out among tables and chairs and sofas, commenting on this and that.

Suddenly she bent over a wrought iron fireside bench, took hold of the price tag. "Oh," she cried, "Harry, look how reasonable! I'll just have to get this."

"I really didn't intend to buy anything," she told our salesman, "but this is such good value."

TRUE STORIES FROM THE LIFE OF A GREAT STORE

Symphony Concert Pleases Brilliant Sunday Audience

BY RALPH T. JONES.

Regrets that the Atlanta Symphony orchestra must confine its efforts this season to the one concert, given Sunday afternoon at Keith's Georgia theater, are even greater after hearing the program than they were in advance.

Before one of the most brilliant and representative crowds that ever attended a musical event in Atlanta, a crowd that three-fourths filled the big theater, Conductor Enrico Leide and his sixty or more musicians, Mrs. W. J. Morrison, the solo pianist, the harp ensemble, and Miss Eda Bartholomew, organist, presented a program that delighted the hearers with its charm and thrilled them with the confident power of presentation. From the opening strains of the "Pomp and Circumstance" march to the closing "Faust" phantasies, the numbers were rendered with a verve and sympathy that at times thrilled and at times moved the big audience.

Mrs. Morrison, playing the effective concerto in G minor by Mendelssohn, proved a pianist of unusual charm. Her sympathetic playing of the melodious composition added a touch of confidence to the playing of the orchestra itself, even, that had, perhaps, not been so strongly in evidence in the earlier part of the program.

Harpists Delightful.
The group of five harpists, proved one of the high spots of the performance. The harp solo by Mrs. William Butt Griffith, the "Meditation" from Thais, delightfully introduced the solo of "Spring Song" and Handel's "Largo," two of the most popular numbers ever written by the harpist, consisting of Mrs. Griffith, Miss Jacquelin Moore, Mrs. J. M. Keelin, Jr., Miss Jo Beth Apperson and Mrs. Burnham Marsh.

Miss Bartholomew demonstrated the wonderful effectiveness of the great organ in giving added power to the orchestra, both in the opening march number and in the "Faust" numbers. The orchestra itself, however, must be considered the main factor in the pleasure of the afternoon. And, the more the concert is considered in retrospect, the greater seems the shame of waiting for the fall of 1928 for a continuance of its existence. The men, through the four years of their association, have achieved much of the cohesion essential to all symphonic success and in both the more pretentious numbers and the simpler effects, once again, showed us what really excellent work they are capable of.

Conductor Leide, with a limited period for rehearsal, had infused the spirit into the men that must be felt for successful playing, and they played with but few loopholes for critical disparagement.

Particularly delightful was the "New World" Largo of Dvorak, and the "Rienzi" overture of Wagner. But it was all good and the only individual who would cavil is the pedant who looks for the impossible. It is sincerely to be hoped that the despite were sufficient to offset the desired end of wiping out the financial deficit left over from last season. Deepest thanks are due all members who contributed the use of the hall, who generously gave their services without cost, and to the theater operators, through Manager Rollare Egleston, who contributed the use of the beautiful house, likewise without charge.

POLICEMEN CHASE ALLEGED SLAYERS THROUGH HOSPITAL

Orange, N. J., November 13.—(United News.)—Patients and nurses at the South Orange Memorial hospital experienced an exciting time today when two murder suspects close the institution as a place to play hide-and-seek with an automobile load of police reserves.

The men were eventually captured. They were all well dressed and appeared to be well educated and posed as members of prominent southern families, anxious to conceal their true identities. They gave their names as Charles L. Barton, 25, and Ovis Tyler, 22, and said they had worked in a Montclair garage since coming north.

Police said that preceding the chase, one of them buried a hunting knife in the heart of Egilio Romano, 25, after Romano quarreled with the two on the street.

They fled in a commandeered automobile, trailed by Patrolman James McManus in another commandeered car until a third car loaded with police joined the chase.

Tyler and Barton abandoned their car at the hospital, creating a commotion by firing several parting shots at it that became general when the police swarmed in and about the building.

Patrolman McManus, fumbling for his pocket flashlight in the dark behind the building, was hit in the head by a milk bottle flung either by one of the fugitives or an excited interne. Neither Tyler nor Barton was armed when captured.

Soon after the police departed, Mr. and Mrs. William Dorsey were brought to the hospital for emergency treatment. Their automobile had been struck by the police reserve car en route back to headquarters.

DESPITE THREAT OF COLD, BUREAU PREDICTS "WARMER"

Temperatures which sent the thermometer down to 46 degrees Sunday morning will moderate today, while increasing cloudiness and continued warm weather is predicted for Tuesday.

The high mark here Sunday was 60 degrees, registered at mid-afternoon, when clearings skies proclaimed that Indian summer yet holds its benignant reign over the state.

AL SMITH INVOLVED IN DENVER ELECTION

Denver, Col., November 13.—(United News.)—The wet and dry issue, the Ku Klux Klan and Al Smith are involved in the special election Tuesday at which Denver will select a successor to the late Congressman William H. Vail.

The election became of national interest last month when the democrats, at their state convention, nailed a wet plank firmly in their platform. S. Harrison White, former state supreme court justice, was picked to bear the anti-Volsteadian banner and he has waged it vigorously in his campaign.

Francis J. Knauss is the republican candidate. He is opposed to modification of the Volstead act and is supported by the Anti-Saloon league and the W. C. T. U.

Because Senator Lawrence C. Phipps, who dictated Knauss' selection, has voted wet in congress, some attempt has been made on the part of the republicans to minimize the importance of the prohibition question as applied to the congressional campaign, but White and the democrats have refused to let this issue be slighted.

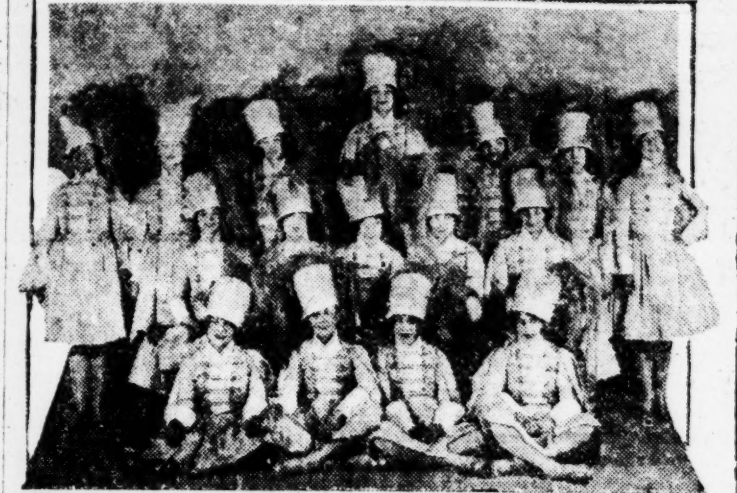

If the democrats succeed in electing White on the modification program it is felt in some quarters that the state democratic machinery will support Al Smith for the presidential nomination.

The democratic claim that election of Knauss would give an opening for the return of the Ku Klux Klan to some degree of political power here is ignored by Knauss, who has made no declaration on this phase of the campaign.

Knauss urges a strong tariff on Colorado products and favors Boulder dam, although he has expressed no opinion on the question of public power.

White charges that Senator Phipps, named for the power behind Knauss, is in league with power trusts and an enemy of the public welfare.

Miss Beulah Leavens Here With 'Young America' Show

Miss Beulah Leavens, Atlanta girl, who some months ago was chosen in a contest conducted by The Constitution to represent Atlanta in the Publick unit, "Young America," and to make her debut on the stage, will be seen at the Howard theater this week along with the presentation of that show which is featured at the Howard all week.

With Miss Leavens in the show are other girls, who were chosen in similar manner to represent the largest cities of the nation. The production, on account of the youth and beauty of its principals, is considered one of the finest ever sent around the Publick circuit.

While in Atlanta the girls will be the guests of Miss Leavens, she acting as hostess. An elaborate program of entertainment has been arranged for the young ladies and it is expected that the local program will add a fitting climax to the round of entertainment that has been given the cast of "Young America" in every city.

ADMIRAL JONES TO RETIRE TODAY

Washington, November 13.—(AP)—Decorated by three governments and honored for 47 years' service to his country, Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones, senior officer of the navy in point of service, will retire tomorrow at the age of 64 years. Ranking member of the navy general board, with 28 years' service at sea, he rounded out his record by serving as a delegate to the Geneva three-power conference on limitation of armament.

Admiral Jones won distinction in the Samoan disaster in 1889, when the U. S. S. Nipsic, on which he served as an ensign, escaped destruction in a violent hurricane which wrecked several vessels. His commanding officer wrote that the young ensign, as officer of the deck, "stood bravely at his post through storm, rain, and volumes of smoke, when at times we could see but a few feet ahead in the blinding smoke and heat and superintended the steering of the ship properly and carefully for two long hours."

During the Spanish-American war Admiral Jones was on patrol duty with Admiral Sampson's fleet. He spent several years on South American, Dominican and West Indian waters. In 1912 he was appointed commandant of the Washington navy yard, and superintendent of the naval gun factory. During the world war he commanded the Newport News division of the cruiser and transport forces, more than a quarter of a million troops embarking under his personal supervision. In 1918 all float ing equipment belonging to the army, navy and shipping board in the Hampton Roads district was pooled for operation under Admiral Jones as administrator. In 1921 he became commander-in-chief of the Atlantic States fleet.

Admiral Jones has been decorated with the Distinguished Service Medal, the navy's distinguished service medal, the French Legion of Honor medal, and by the Brazilian government.

coughing spell, Mrs. W. S. Nix, 70, of LaGrange, was almost instantly killed this afternoon, her head being crushed when she struck the pavement. She was rushed to a Griffin hospital but died within 20 minutes after reaching there.

The unusual accident occurred on the highway two miles west of Griffin as Mr. and Mrs. Nix were returning to LaGrange after having visited their daughter Mrs. Kate Clifton, at Hampton, near here. Mr. Nix said that his wife, apparently well, was seized with a violent coughing spell and leaned heavily against the automobile door, which must have been only partially latched, the door flew open and Mrs. Nix fell heavily to the pavement. An ambulance was summoned, which brought her to the Griffin hospital. A young grand daughter was also an occupant of the car.

HOLMES URGES RACE TO PURCHASE HOMES

Urging colored people to save their earnings and make judicious investments, Rev. B. R. Holmes, speaking Sunday afternoon to an audience in the chapel of Holmes institute, of which he is president, said that too many of his race spend money on luxuries and fine clothing and have no home to live in.

"Good citizenship is found among people who own real estate and will work for the upbuilding of the community," Rev. Holmes said. "Ninety per cent of the people who commit crimes are those who do not own real estate, but are drifting from place to place."

The Amazing Adventures Of Anarchist Aber

By Lawrence Aber

As Told to Ben Cooper, Staff Representative of The Constitution.

CHAPTER IV.—EAST MEETS WEST

SYNOPSIS

In the first installment of his amazing and thrilling narrative, Aber traced his ancestry to the British peerage, and told of his birth in Wales. His story so far relates as follows: He was born in 1880 in Monmouthshire, Wales, and at an early age deserted from a British navy schoolship. He remained in the slums of New York for a time, and at the age of 18 enlisted with the American army in the Spanish war. After the Spanish war he went back home and after a brief stay with his mother enlisted with the British South Africa forces for the Boer war.

En route to Capetown on a troopship, Aber and his fellow soldiers went through the tortures of privation and rough treatment. Landing in South Africa, they proceeded to Pretoria, and after a march that seemed like a long and fantastic nightmare, arrived at Ladysmith, where they were entrenched for a long siege.

Gaunt with privation and suffering from scurvy, Aber comes through the grueling siege. Returning to London after his discharge, Aber faces poverty and is forced to beg and then to steal to ward off starvation.

He then shipped for Brazil aboard a sailing vessel that touched at Rio de Janeiro and rounded Cape Horn. Aber deserted his ship in the Fiji islands and joined up as first mate with a vessel trading among the New Guinea islands.

Manila, "The Pearl of the Orient," was a dirty little city of stone in 1903, and suddenly changed to a place of importance filled with 50,000 American soldiers. It was a lively town, and within a week after my arrival I found myself the proprietor of a sporting house in San Roque, a native barrio near Cavite, the naval station of the Philippines, and, as many a poor fool of a marine or sailor can testify, it

GIRLHOOD TO MOTHERHOOD

Iowa Woman Found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Always Helpful

Vinton, Iowa.—"When I was seventeen years old I had to stay at home from school. I finally had to quit school, I was so weak. I suffered for about two years before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, then I picked up one of your books and read it. I began taking the medicine. Now I am a housekeeper with six children, and I have taken it before each one was born. I cannot tell you all the good I have received from it. When I am not as well as can be I take it. I have been doing this for over thirteen years and it always helps me. I read all of your little books I can get and I tell everyone I know what the Vegetable Compound does for me."—Mrs. Frank Sellers, 610 7th Avenue, Vinton, Iowa.

DR. CARTER H. JONES' TOPIC IS "MY CHURCH"

Dr. Carter Helm Jones, pastor of the Second Baptist church, preached Sunday morning on the subject "My Church" to a large congregation. Reports on the forward campaign of the church were also made at the service. Dr. Jones, in his sermon, stated that Christ was the founder and builder of the church, and he stressed the relationship of the member to the church, and the importance of faith in the Founder. He showed that other organizations, however good they might be, could never take the place of the church.

At the close of the sermon P. C. McDuffie urged members to contribute to the forward campaign being conducted by the church. He stated that eight members have subscribed $500 each on the condition that ten subscribe the same amount. He pointed out that unless the remaining two subscriptions are secured, the entire amount will be lost.

What's inside?

THE woman who started out to fill her library only with books with red bindings, or books whose names suggest red—"Red Pepper Burns," "The Song of the Cardinal," "The Scarlet Letter"—made a whim the basis of her choice. She wasn't particularly interested in the merits of those books. Her aim was to fill up space.

Yet when you buy books, you are concerned with what's inside them. And when you buy a flashlight, a refrigerator, a radio—you want wiser than whimsy buys. You want to know the inside goodness of those products, know it before you buy them, be persuaded by what's inside. You may hesitate between two flashlights. You can't tell by the appearance which is good, or which is better. Advertisements could tell you. They point out the underneathness of a product. The truth you can see, and the truths you can't see. The amount and strength of service to expect of what you see. Not just a refrigerator—but how long the ice lasts in it, how it makes lettuce crisp. And not only the now inside merits, but the future inside merits. It's these unseen nows and futures that make a product worth its price.

Read the advertisements. Then you can know a product to its center—to its last chapter of service—before you buy.

Knowing the advertisements habitually means always strength-buys
Read advertising often

I Have Said in My Heart

BY IDAH M'GLONE GIBSON.
PATIENCE

I get mighty tired of reading of those wonderful rewards that come to the patient woman.

I find it is the woman who is not meek who gets what she deserves, and, perhaps, a little more.

It is the people who make things disagreeable for us, if we do not suit them, that we try to placate.

We have little respect for those who turn the other cheek.

If mother is impatient, the children will be more than careful not to worry her, and the wife that will make things uncomfortable for hubby if she does not have her way usually gets it.

Patience or meekness do not really loom so large as virtues as we have been taught. There is no particular reason why one should be patient with a selfish, self-centered person, who insists that the world must be run for her benefit. It would probably do her good, and broaden her character to realize that she must consider others.

One must not confuse patience with consideration. To have consideration means that you are just, that you will give to everyone his due and will not arrogate all the attention and thought and care of everyone about you to yourself.

Patience means meekly accepting all sorts of uncomfortable circumstances rather than hurt the feelings of some very thoughtless, selfish person who should be taught better.

That Biblical promise, "Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth," usually means, in modern parlance, a nice, round lump of mud in the neck. The man who has inherited a farm, a gold mine, a lumber forest or an acre of land in the heart of New York or Chicago simply because he is meek and lowly, has not sent in his name to the newspapers yet.

It would seem as though the successful woman of today should try to eliminate patience from her list of virtues and put into its place consideration.

Memo: Consideration for others is a splendid qualification. A meekness that bears with selfishness and whim is silly.

DIET AND HEALTH

BY LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

HOW MUCH WATER?

Many people suffer from too little water drinking, and it is possible, though not probable, that some go to the extreme and take too much. One glass on arising, one after meals and before retiring is a safe rule. The thirst is a fair indication of the need for water, but some apparently dull the thirst by not drinking enough. Children need relatively more than do adults; that means a great deal.

Normally approximately two-thirds of the weight of the body is water. It looks as though it were important to keep up a fresh supply.

The amount of water that a person should take each day depends upon so many factors that it is impossible to make any definite statement about it. If we drink liberally of milk, tea or coffee, have liberal amounts of fruits and vegetables, which we should do, we would need less than if we have a more concentrated diet. During the summer, when much water is eliminated by perspiration, more water should be taken.

Too water is all right to drink, provided it is sipped slowly. You can drink water at all times, whenever you are thirsty (and even when you are not thirsty, if you are not in the habit of regular water drinking), or with your meals. When you do drink it with your meals, be sure you do not use it to wash your food down.

Fat people drink a lot of water and blame their fat on it. But it is innocent; they are thirsty, for their fat is too condensed and abundant. When the food is out down, they'll find the same amount of water won't fatten 'em. (Do you need instructions as to how to reduce? We have them in a pamphlet which you may have by sending a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope and ten cents in stamps to cover cost of printing and handling.)

Distribution of Meals.
"Dear Dr. Lulu: I weighed 181 when I began to diet, and in seven months I have lost 45 pounds, so am down to 136 now. My friends warned me that I would ruin my health, but I haven't—I feel the usual 100 per cent better now. While I was reducing, which was at the rate of one and a half pounds a week, I found it very useful not to eat anything after my noon meal. Now I eat a little supper and not too much at my midday meal."
MRS. M.

I've experienced the same thing you have, Mrs. M. Apparently you can take more calories if you take them during the early part of the day, and reduce as much as when you take fewer and take them later in the day. The reason is that more of the food is used when you're active than while you're asleep. You slim while you sleep. However, one can reduce one and one-half to two pounds a week by distributing the meals as one likes them best, provided the total number of the calories for the day is the reducing number.

If you are invited out to dinner in the evening, just make your other meals very light, so that you won't be conspicuous in your dieting. When you must really get down to business in this reducing, it is best to refuse dinner invitations as often as possible. Remember, you won't have to keep this dieting up all your life—that is, not nearly so strenuously.

Thanks for letting us know your good results, Mrs. M.

Mr. Van de View Meets Mothers and Daughters at a Debut

Here's the butler, very grandiose, announces Van de View
At the party of a charming girl just making her debut
And the mothers of the debutantes, all sitting in a row,
Inspect closely and appraise him as desirable to know.

He pays his compliments to them with tactful animation
And then devotes his efforts to the younger generation,
Attending first of all the maiden "coming out" tonight
In a ravishing creation of the sheerest velvet white.

He tells her he is sorry that he can't monopolize
Her evening, and he yields her to the next admiring eyes;
Then hastens to attach him to another debutante
Who wears a frock of tulle that's made enchantingly bouffant.

And behold he meets another who is more sophisticated
And the compliments he pays her are most eloquently stated,
For her train, a graceful swallow-tail, is something to behold
And his laudatory speeches are too many to be told.

FARMERS TO OFFER FLOOD PROPOSALS

Washington, November 13.—(P.)—Plans of three organizations, including the American Farm Bureau Federation and the United States Chamber of Commerce, for checking the destructive inundations of the Mississippi river will be presented before the house flood control committee which commences its second week of hearings tomorrow.

The farm bureau organizations will have its day before the committee tomorrow, while a delegation of United States Chamber of Commerce, headed by Jacob M. Dickinson, of Chicago, former secretary of war, and including Robert P. Lamont, of Chicago, president of the American Steel Foundry company, and Matthew Sloan, of New York, president of the Brooklyn Edison company, will appear on Tuesday.

The third group to outline its flood proposals will be the Mississippi Valley association appearing on Thursday and Friday. On Monday Representative Leavitt, republican, Montana, also will appear to propose establishment of a reservoir on the Missouri river.

These views and those of the two score witnesses of last week will be considered by the committee along with the report of the army engineers when it is presented at the opening of congress.

Although western states have proposed utilization of the tributaries waters for irrigation and power development through reservoirs, it is understood that the committee in its drafting of the flood legislation will consider the protection of the Mississippi river proper of first importance. The committee members have indicated that they favor the establishment of spillways and higher levees on the

GERMANY DEFENDS FOREIGN LOANS

Berlin, November 13.—(P.)—The argument is advanced in a communique to the newspapers from German industrialist centers that many of Germany's borrowings in America would have been avoidable if German property in America, which has been under attachment for the past six years, had been restored. These industrialists complain that this important point was not brought out in the recent memorandum of S. Parker Gilbert, agent general for reparation payments, which enjoins the utmost economy on the Germans.

Germany, the communique says, is compelled to pay high interest on American loans whereas the seized properties bears little or none. It further asserts that complete restitution would raise American prestige throughout the whole world and remove a potent factor of post-war irritation, while part restitution would leave a bitter feeling of injury among those Germans whose property has been seized.

In connection with Agent General Gilbert's advice on economy, Gustav Stresemann, the foreign minister, in a political speech at Halle again laid stress on the fact that Germany despite a momentary favorable economic situation, still needed to observe the greatest care in her outlay.

There were far too many public offices all over the country which the reich was unable to afford, said Dr. Stresemann, and the principal of nationalities as practiced by the industrialists should be emulated in the civil service.

TAX COMMITTEE WILL DRAFT BILL

Washington, November 13.—(P.)—Having wound up its public hearings, the house ways and means committee will retire behind closed doors tomorrow to start the actual drafting of a new revenue bill.

A number of its members are known to have definite views concerning what should go into the prospective measure, and, as in years past, it is expected that more than one heated argument will mark the discussion before the final product is reported to the house.

Party lines undoubtedly will assert themselves in the committee, and there is no assurance that completion of the task will find republicans and democrats in the same accord that developed two years ago in the writing of the committee report on the present revenue law.

The first big fight is expected to concern the size of the reduction, Secretary Mellon, backed up by President Coolidge, has placed the maximum cut at $25,000,000, but practically the entire democratic membership of the committee is convinced that a larger slice should be made.

Whether they will be able to swing sufficient republicans over to their point of view and thereby establish a temporary majority remains problematical. Until it has been settled none of the other major issues can be disposed of with any assurance of permanency.

Another fight will develop over the treasury recommendation to repeal the federal inheritance tax. This will be opposed by Chairman Green, some of his republican colleagues and a majority of the democrats.

Democrats, at least, will endeavor to seek reduction of the tax on corporate incomes, now 13 1/2 per cent, below the 12 per cent figure suggested by Secretary Mellon. They also are expected to demand a move for repeal of the miscellaneous or nuisance taxes which the treasury has advised the committee to retain.

LACK OF MORPHINE CAUSE OF SUICIDE EFFORT BY ADDICT

Crazed by lack of morphine, Joe Smith, held in Fulton tower on a charge of violation of the Harrison narcotic act, Sunday afternoon slashed arteries and blood vessels of his forearms in an attempt to commit suicide, according to police reports.

Smith was rushed to Grady hospital in a weakened condition from loss of blood, and doctors stated that, while his condition was serious, recovery was assured.

Smith told police that he slashed his wrists with a safety razor in his cell because he was not allowed to have any of the "dope" which his body, from long addiction to the drug, craved for.

They Wouldn't Believe

By Roy Vickers.

SYNOPSIS

On the way to Donald Briery's house at Rubington for luncheon, Connie Elmore, Donald's fiancée, tells her friend, Olive Weston, that Donald stands a chance of inheriting half a million from the estate of old Harrowby, a friend of Donald's father.

Olive and Connie share a flat in London. Olive is secretly in love with Donald but sincerely pleased at Connie's good fortune in winning him. Sandle and Querk, solicitors handling the Harrowby estate, are crooked and plot to cheat Donald Briery of the fortune by having a spurious heir appear whose claim is prior to Donald's. In the midst of the plotting Augusta Briery, Donald's father, presumed to have died on the Titanic, calls on Sandle. Querk suggests to Sandle that he invite Briery to Harrowby house and there, with the assistance of Querk's tool, Wade, dispose of Briery. Connie decides to visit her old nurse, who is now caretaker of Harrowby house. Mrs. Jones is out, but Connie finds the key and lets herself in to wait for her. She hears strange noises in the library and, going to investigate, she sees Sandle and another man kill Mr. Briery, whom she recognizes from the portrait. Rushing out of the house Connie a quakes into Mr. Querk. While telling her story Querk pushes the bell and sends a signal to the murderers. Connie sees a policeman and, calling him, the three proceed to the library and Connie asks Querk to open the secret panel in the wall where she had seen the men place the body. It is empty. Querk accompanies her to the police station, where she tells her story to the police superintendent. Querk intimates that she imagines the scene, and, in exasperation, Connie goes to see Olive, who believes her story.

Querk requests Sandle to come to the superintendent's office, and he presents his alibi, which the officer accepts. The two lawyers proceed to Wade's office, where old man Turle and his son, the spurious heir, await them. The old man dies just after they walk into the office.

The next morning Connie calls on Querk and meets young Jones there. She recognizes him as her old nurse's son, but does not know that he has been posing as Henry Turle, Jr. Querk later pretends that Connie imagined she saw young Jones. He tells Olive that Sandle is about to bring criminal suit against Connie unless Olive, as her nearest friend, has her committed to a private sanatorium which he recommends. While Donald is visiting Connie at Harrowby house a body is found buried in his garden. Olive, sent out on the case by her newspaper, meets and warns Donald. She arranges a hiding place for him in London. She later helps Connie to escape from Harrowby.

INSTANT LXXX.

"Listen a minute," she said, her voice faltering. "There's no fire escape—there's no possible means of escape. Let me go in first and tell him you are here. Let me prepare him for the shock. He cannot possibly escape you now."

"Very well," he said. "I trust you to try no kind of tricks. If he waits for me with a gun—"

"He is not a murderer," she flashed. And then: "Thank you, Mr. Reason. You will wait here, then."

Olive lurched forward to the door and knocked on it. Instantly, Donald opened it.

"Don't!"

"Hullo, kid! I say, what's up?"

He had shut the door behind her. Speechless, she pointed to it.

"Behind there. Detective Inspector Reason. O, Don, I've failed you! I've made a fatal slip. He has just let me come in here out of courtesy. He can afford to be courteous. There is no earthly hope now."

For answer there came from him a long sigh.

"I don't know whether I'm sorry or not," he said. "We've done all we can, kid—by which I mean you have done everything. The rest is a toss-up. And in case—" he laughed bitterly—"in case the penny comes down the wrong way and we don't meet again—" He put his arms on her shoulder and kissed her on the forehead. "My dear, dear friend!" he murmured.

In such manner Olive received the kiss of the man she loved. He had kissed her with an infinite tenderness—as he would have kissed his mother.

"We had better ask that detective in," he said with a false buoyancy that did not conceal the depths of his own emotion.

He flung open the door.

"Will you come in, Mr. Reason?" he called. "There are just a few things I would like to ask you, if you don't mind waiting a minute or two."

Reason turned to Olive.

"You had better go, Miss Weston," he said sternly.

Olive looked from one to the other—then left the room in silence.

She crossed Fleet street and made for the offices of the Record.

She hurried through the newsroom, merely nodding to her friends and acquaintances, and made for the suite of the chief editor. In three minutes she was with him.

"Well, Miss Weston? Feel the better for your holiday?"

"Yes, thanks. Donald Briery was arrested ten minutes ago."

The Old Man frowned.

"That's not much use to us," he grunted. "It'll be in the later editions of the evening papers. Got anything special?"

"There's one pretty thumping thing I've found out that isn't for immediate publication," she went on.

National Window Co. Cleans Ford Building Last Week

Renewed activity at the big Ford assembly plant on Ponce de Leon avenue is looked for soon by tradespeople in that vicinity due to the cleanup work done there by the National Window Cleaning company, of 65 1/2 Ivy street.

This big cleaning company has just cleaned the outside of the building from top to bottom and made it look like a new structure. The National Window company is especially equipped and manned to clean any size or height building. There are many large old and new buildings in Atlanta and other southern cities that have been cleaned by this concern.

The company reports that in its other lines of cleaning office windows and store fronts, it is unusually busy at this time of the year and has a good force of efficient workmen and women at work. The company is furnishing janitor service in several buildings.

Where the National Window Cleaning company can be of the greatest service at this time of the year is in the homes of those who are making preparations for holiday guests or Christmas festivities. It will send

Little Work Done On Cylinders Will Restore Many Cars

Automobile owners are realizing more and more every day that if some vital part of their car gets out of order and the car will not run, it does not necessarily mean that they will have to get a new car at once. Experience is teaching that if the one unit, no matter how important, breaks or wears out, that some vital part can be replaced or reconditioned and the car will run again for thousands of miles.

If the cylinders in a car get out of order, a car will not run smoothly, but if he will have the cylinders re-ground, which means to have them made smooth inside, the engine runs evenly and steadily and picks up speed when needed.

Atlanta is becoming famous for its cylinder grinders here, and the Camp Cylinder company, of 130 Walton street, one of the pioneers in this line in this section, probably does more of this kind of work than anybody else in this vicinity, as it specializes in this branch of automobile work.

This firm has a well-equipped machine shop and a good force of expert machinists. The Camp Cylinder grinding company does much work for inventors and it is not an unusual sight to see parts of inventors' models being perfected there.

This firm has recently begun to give attention to reconditioning all parts of the motive plant of cars and wishes everybody to know that if anything is wrong with a car's motor, they should call Ivy 3062 and see how quickly this company can fix it and save the customer's money.

Spanish Romances

Hollywood, Calif.—It may be that the prevalence of Spanish architecture in southern California is having its effect on producers and writers of screen stories. After the Spanish or Latin American influence seems to be back of an unusual number of screen romances recently released or still in production.

Benscot is sold in both one-half gallon bottles and five-gallon demijohns, sealed at many of the drug stores, clubs and similar places in towns and cities throughout the southeast, and if not carried in stock, may be ordered through any drug store or from the company direct. San Francisco, November 13.—(AP) A soggy field and unpromising flying conditions today continued to delay Captain Frederick A. Giles from starting on his proposed trans-Pacific flight via the Hawaiian islands thence to Australia. It was announced the hop off had been postponed until next Tuesday or Wednesday.

The public, including physicians, druggists, hotels, clubs and hospitals in the southeast, will be interested in knowing that the Pure Water company, at 102 Piedmont avenue, S. E., has become sole distributor of the celebrated Benscot mineral spring water, which comes from the well-known spring near Lithia Springs, Ga.

The Pure Water company has been dealing exclusively in pure drinking and mineral waters, including Pure water, triple-distilled, for twenty years, serving daily thousands of customers. It is thereby prepared to give the public a service that will be appreciated.

Benscot water is not only a delightful drinking and table water, it is also a disinfectant, being suitable for dispensing in cafes, hotels, clubs, offices and homes, where quality is demanded.

Big Building Year Ahead For South, Donnaud Says

"From a preliminary survey we have just made of the building trades outlook," says Albert Donnaud, general manager of Atlanta plant of the Carolina Portland Cement company.

He is about to enter the south's best building year. We do not mean by this an inflated boom year, but good steady and healthy increase in most parts of the south. Much work will be in sight or in project that will give work to thousands of people.

"We have big supply yards," continued Mr. Donnaud, "one at Charleston, one at Jacksonville, one at Birmingham, one at New Orleans and this one in Atlanta. Our traveling representatives are in close touch with any proposed building projects, subdivisions of good road developments."

"Take the closing gaps now being completed in the Coastal highway through South Carolina and the new bridges to be built in that state. These will greatly stimulate building along their right of way. And Charleston especially will greatly feel the good results of increased traffic, as that city is now being made more accessible than it ever was before."

Growth for South. "Jacksonville will always grow and is destined to be a great city and this same Coastal highway will help Savannah and Brunswick and smaller towns in between, as it will help Charleston and South Carolina towns only in a larger measure as the traffic will become greater the farther south it goes."

"The rebuilding of the Mississippi flood control section is going to mean a great building boom in the Mississippi valley, for New Orleans, office predicts, and that section that was a big loss to the state and a big strain on the credit of all that did business with it will become a very bright spot."

PRINTING FIRM ADDS TWO NEW CITY SALESMEN

A visit to the big printing plant of Downman & Wilkins, 177 Luckie street, S. W., last week found it as busy as usual on its catalogue and trade publications, of which the concern gets out about one dozen different publications every month. Many of these are of the highest class for work done in the printing line, the City Builder, the official mouthpiece of the chamber of commerce, being one of the monthly publications.

This firm gets out large and small catalogues that the commercial and large medicine companies have printed in large quantities every year and sometimes it will receive an order for as much as a half million copies at one time. There is another class of printing which is produced in large quantities and that is tariff work, like that used by express companies requiring much rule work and figure composition.

Due to the splendid equipment of this firm and its efficient organization, it is able to take on any large or small contract of plain or color printing, and as good paper stock always is Downman & Wilkins' pride it assures customers that they can have printed matter as good as it can be done anywhere. The company invites correspondence from any large firm in the south figuring on getting out catalogues or circular printed matter.

This firm is also prepared to print college and boarding school commencement and descriptive matter, for in the matter of cuts and photographs its work shows up splendidly.

This firm has recently added two new outside printing salesmen, W. L. Snell and Walter E. Downman, and for the present they are devoting their time to getting all kinds of small, miscellaneous printing matter to fill in between these trade publication and catalogue runs. They are promising their custom that in the matter of service all work taken by their firm is delivered when it is wanted by the customer.

The president of this company, A. E. Downman, one of Atlanta's foremost citizens and a leader in church and civic matters, is confident that Atlanta is about to enter on a year of progress that will surpass any that has so far taken place in its history.

FARMER PROVES HE HAS NOT MADE ALIMONY SOUGHT

(By Lossed Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Marion, Ill., November 13.—T. H. Hillard, 60, a farmer, brought into court for failure to pay his wife $25 a month alimony, proved that he had not earned $25 since the court order had been issued and that he did not make $25 a month cultivating land on share rental. City Judge R. R. Fowler decided that he could not be held in contempt if he had not earned any money and granted another month to enable him to earn some.

Ralph Graves Gives Books to Bainbridge In Honor of Mother

Bainbridge, Ga., November 13.—(Special.)—Frank S. Jones, chairman of the city board of education, is in receipt of a letter from Ralph Graves, of Washington, stating that he is sending to the Bainbridge schools a set of Nelson's encyclopedia as a gift in memory of his mother, Mrs. Agnes Graves. This is very gratifying news to Superintendent R. G. Elean, who is interested in having a full library.

Mr. Graves is a Bainbridge man but makes his home in Washington, where he is associate editor of the Geographic Magazine. His mother was Miss Agnes Donaldson, member of one of the most prominent families of Georgia.

Keith's Georgia.

For thrills and tense drama there are few films that equal "Jesse James," a new Paramount release shown this week at Keith's Georgia. The story shows Jesse James as a member of Quantrill's southern regiment during the civil war. After the war it details the life of Jesse James, his brother Frank, and Bob Cole, three desperate characters who thrived during the reconstruction period. On the stage Keith vanover is made attractive and a special program is shown for the first anniversary of the theater.

Capitol.

One of the greatest vaudeville attractions of the season in Atlanta is the act of Tom Brown and the Brown Brothers, which will play all this week at the Capitol theater. This organization is the most famous group of saxophone players in the world, they having been vital factors in the nation's popularization of that instrument. On the same program with this stellar attraction will be four other acts of merit and the season's featured musical "Sue, West Side," featuring George O'Brien.

Loew's Grand.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

AT 3:30 A. M., JULY 30, 1864, THE FEDERALS LIGHTED THE FUSE OF THE GREAT MINE THEY HAD DUG BENEATH THE "ELLIOTT'S SALIENT" FORT THAT FORMED AN IMPORTANT PART OF THE CONFEDERATE DEFENSES AT PETERSBURG, VIRGINIA. AN HOUR PASSED WHILE UNION TROOPS, MASSED FOR THE ATTACK THAT WAS TO FOLLOW, WAITED IN SUSPENSE.

The Battle of the Crater.

TWO BRAVE MEN, ENTERING THE TUNNEL, FOUND THAT THE FUSE HAD DIED OUT, AND RELIGHTED IT. THIS TIME THE 8,000 POUNDS OF POWDER STORED IN THE MAGAZINE BLEW UP, AND WHERE THE FORT HAD STOOD, THERE APPEARED A GREAT, SMOKING HOLE FILLED WITH WRECKAGE AND THE FORMS OF DEAD AND WOUNDED MEN.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

AFTER THE EXPLOSION, STRONG COLUMNS OF WHITE AND COLORED UNION TROOPS BRAVELY POURED INTO THE CRATER, BUT FOUND IT HARD TO SCALE THE SLIPPERY SIDES AT THE FURTHER END. THIS DELAY GAVE THE CONFEDERATES TIME TO RECOVER FROM THEIR SURPRISE, AND A WITHERING FIRE WAS CONCENTRATED UPON THE CRATER.

Mrs. Jeter was born at Lafayette, Ala., in 1859, the daughter of the late James T. Brock, Sr., and Sarah Hough. Immediately after her marriage in the Alabama city, Mrs. Jeter came to Atlanta and has made her home here ever since.

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. Frances Jones, Miss Lamar Jeter, Mrs. George T. Curry, Miss Brock Jeter; four granddaughters, Misses Susan Baker Jones, Ruth Curry, and Sarah Bivins Curry; a grandson, Francis Jones, Jr.; a sister, Mrs. W. C. Rawson, and a brother, James T. Brock, of Waco, Texas.

Atlantic Fliers Will Be Honored At White House

BY ALFRED P. PECK.
Washington, November 13.—(United News.)—More trail-blazing flying talent will be gathered here than ever before in history when 18 pilots of trans-oceanic fame meet around the white house luncheon table Monday.

Strangely enough, most of the aviators are coming to the capital by train. Only three—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, George Haldean and Ruth Elder—have signified their intention of flying here.

The luncheon given by President and Mrs. Coolidge is intended to a public meeting at night when Coolidge will present Colonel Lindbergh with the National Geographic society's Hubbard medal for pioneer achievement.

The luncheon also will be the first meeting of the king and queen of the air. Lindbergh and Miss Elder, besides Lindbergh, Miss Elder and Haldean, will be Commander Richard E. Byrd, north pole and trans-Atlantic flier; Bert Astor, Barnat Balchen and Lieutenant George O. Noville, Byrd's associates on the trans-Atlantic flight; Clarence D. Chamberlin and Charles A. Levine, New York to Germany fliers; Lieutenant Lester J. Maitland and Ernest Hegenberger, first to fly from California to Hawaii; Ernest E. Smith and E. B. Bronte, California to Hawaii fliers; A. C. Goble, winner of the Dole flight to Hawaii; Paul Schutte and Martin Jensen, second in the Dole race; William S. Brock and Edward F. Schlee, who attempted a round-the-world flight by the way of Europe and Asia.

Flying from New York with Lindbergh will be his mother, Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, of Detroit, and Harry Guggenheim, of the Guggenheim foundation.

Miss Elder and Haldean are expected to fly in Miss Elder's small pursuit plane from Currituck field, Long Island. Hotel reservations have been made for Miss Elder and Haldean at a Washington hotel but no reservations have been made for Lyle Womack, Ruth's husband, it was said.

All of the aviators will be present Monday night when Lindbergh receives the Hubbard medal. Many are expected to remain in Washington for a National Aeronautic association luncheon Tuesday noon.

Fourteen radio stations will broadcast the medal presentation ceremonies with hook-ups at Washington, Boston, Baltimore, St. Louis, Memphis, Rochester, Pittsburgh, Louisville, Atlanta, Springfield, Detroit, Chicago, Nashville and Charlotte, N. C.

The Hubbard medal is awarded by the Geographic society for outstanding achievement in the field of exploration. Only seven times previously has the medal been awarded and to one other aviator, Commander Byrd—for his north pole expedition.

Mrs. Lindbergh will be present to see her son receive one of the highest honors possible from a non-governmental source. Gilbert A. Groveson, president of the geographic society will preside at the presentation and the medal will be named on Lindbergh's breast by President Coolidge.

Business Is Optimistic For Revival of Trade

Although there were few tangible signs of improvement in actual conditions, a distinctly better feeling prevailed in business circles last week. A number of indications were cited of satisfactory expansion a little later on, and predictions were general that a material revival of trade would be felt with the beginning of the new year.

Authorization of $65,250,000 in dividends on the common stock of the General Motors Corporation was the outstanding event of the week. This distribution will be in the form of a regular quarterly payment of $1.25 and an extra of $2.50 a share. The large extra dividend was awarded in commercial quarters as evidence that the board of directors of the corporation expect a large run of business next year notwithstanding competition from the new Ford model.

President Sloan's optimistic outlook of the corporation's prospects, expressed on his return from abroad, naturally added much to the feeling that the automobile trade will enjoy, in 1928, a satisfactory degree of prosperity.

Advance in Steel.
An advance in prices of bars, shapes and plates by two subsidiaries of the United States Steel Corporation and one independent company was recorded as carrying more significance than appeared on the surface. Buying of steel has been for actual needs, restricted to a large degree by consumers' expectations that even lower prices might be forthcoming. The upward swing, indicating that prices have "turned the corner," is expected to bring in a fair rush of orders from buyers who have been holding off.

A sharp increase in unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation was another outstanding development of the week, which tends to revive optimism in the trade outlook. Buying of rails by two large carrier systems and pipe by the oil industry contributed to the fair share to the growing belief that better days are not far off.

Improvement of the copper trade, while slight, also created confidence. Organization of a copper institute on the order of the American Iron and Steel Institute is expected to result in great benefit to this branch of industry. More effective determination of production costs will lend itself to more standardized methods in setting prices for the red metal.

Mercantile Shares.
Activity of mercantile shares on the stock exchange was attributed to expectations of excellent retail trade, particularly throughout the holiday season. Buying of agricultural implements was reported as picking up and running ahead of last year.

Renewed nervousness developed in the oil industry on the discovery of a new field to the south of Seminole, in Oklahoma. Some fears were expressed that a new era of over production might ensue.

Cotton goods continued to reflect the erratic movement in the speculative cotton market. Colder weather resulted in a quickening of the demand for woollens and worsteds, but silks were moving a little slower.

The case of the money market was exemplified by the $700,000,000 over-subscription of the new $400,000,000 issue of treasury 3-1/8 percent certificates and by the prompt absorption of more than $100,000,000 in new bonds in the New York market. Bank clearings, however, were off about 18 percent from the week before, but slightly greater than the same period of 1926.

MAN CONFESSES IN WIFE-KILLING
Milwaukee, Wis., November 13.—Alcan Greenwaldt, erstwhile bus driver and hoodlumper, confessed tonight the police said that he fired R. A. Kelly, a bus driver, to slay Mrs. Greenwaldt, so he could collect her insurance. Kelly also confessed, the authorities said, to having fired a shot which was found along a highway near Dousman last Monday.

The police also revealed they were looking for a woman who Greenwaldt said he had taken for automobile rides during the past month.

Both men confessed, the police added, that Greenwaldt was to pay Kelly $500 for slaying Mrs. Greenwaldt, who carried $20,000 worth of life and accident insurance.

Greenwaldt, who recently sold his western Wisconsin home for a reputed sum of $80,000, first told authorities he intended to bring in a car from a country highway when several men, masquerading as police officers, stopped their car, knocked him unconscious and kidnapped Mrs. Greenwaldt, who was found strangled to death in the car the next day.

Because his story showed several discrepancies, the police said, he was virtually held prisoner as he recounted the story of the staged attack. Today, however, the police said, he broke down and confessed, as did Kelly.

FOUR MAROONED PERSONS RESCUED
Key West, Fla., November 13.—(United News.)—Four people who spent Saturday and Sunday night on a small, isolated Florida key were brought to Key West by a rescue boat today.

Henry Filer and R. H. Harris and their wives, all of Miami, were landed on the key when the Filer yacht sank 20 miles from here early Saturday morning.

Three members of the yacht's crew arrived here Saturday night with the first news of the yacht's sinking and asked that a rescue boat be sent after the four. The crew had rowed all day and were virtually exhausted. They had landed the Harris and Filer on the key before starting for Key West.

Filer is chairman of the Dade county board of education and president of the Filer-Cleveland Company of Miami.

TROOPERS BESIEGE HOME IN NEW YORK
Albany, N. Y., November 13.—(UP) Volleys of slugs from saved-off shotguns in the hands of state troopers and railroad police, poured into the home of John Norsinski tonight, had failed to dislodge the man from his barricaded position taken when police attempted to arrest him after he was said to have threatened the life of his wife. With the man in the bullet marked house was his infant son, deserted by the mother as she fled.

Mrs. Norsinski told police, as she sat in a railroad shanty near the scene of the siege, that her husband had returned home intoxicated. Upon his entrance he picked up a rifle and declared he intended to kill her. Picking up a four-year-old son, she fled from the house and as she crossed the fields, surrounding the home, the man opened fire on her.

State police, called to the home, tried calling the man out, but this failed. They then fired a few warning shots above the house, but this brought only a return fire. Taking up positions, the troopers, reinforced by railroad police from the Selkirk yards of the New York Central railroad, then opened a barrage on the house in an effort to drive the man into surrender.
